Part B. TERMS

1. Definitions

1.1. The following definitions and rules of interpretation apply in this licence:

- Authors: the Submitting Author and any co-authors. Author shall mean any one of the Submitting Author or any co-author.
- Intellectual Property Rights: all copyright and related rights, trademarks, service marks, trade, business and domain names, rights in goodwill or to sue for passing off, database right, rights in confidential information (including know-how and trade secrets) and any other intellectual property rights, in each case whether registered or unregistered and all similar or equivalent rights or forms of protection in any part of the world.
- Journal: as stated in Part A.
- Open Access Article(s): a Version of Record which in accordance with BMJ’s written policies (which involves a requirement for the WHO to pay an article processing charge) and is agreed with the WHO/Authors to be made available for all to access without charge and which may be re-used by the WHO, Authors and third parties in accordance with clause 7.
- Non Research Article: an article that does not report on primary research nor include systematic reviews and meta-analysis.
- Submitting Author: The author who submits the Work to BMJ for publication in the Journal.

Version of Record: the version of the Work published by BMJ in the Journal.

Work: The Non Research Article work the Submitting Author has submitted for publication in the Journal as an Open Access Article. Work shall include all text, audio, video and audio-visual material, abstracts, databases, tables, data, diagrams, photographs and other images or illustrative material and including all drafts of the Work, the version of the Work accepted for publication by BMJ and the Version of Record.

- 1.2. Unless the context otherwise requires, words in the singular include the plural and in the plural include the singular.
- 1.3. Headings are for convenience only and do not affect the interpretation of this licence.
- 1.4. Any words following the term including or any similar expression shall be construed as illustrative only and shall not limit the sense of the words preceding it.
- 1.5. A reference to a statute is a reference to such statute as amended.

2. Licence and publication of the Work

- 2.1. In consideration for BMJ evaluating whether to publish the Work, WHO grants on behalf it itself and any Authors, a non-exclusive (subject to clause 3.1), worldwide, irrevocable, royalty-free licence to BMJ (and, where the Journal is co-owned by BMJ to the co-owners of the Journal) in perpetuity to:
  - 2.1.1. edit, adapt, publish, distribute, display, reproduce, translate and store the Work (and any derivative works based on the Work created under this licence) in all media and on all distribution platforms including social media platforms, whether now known or in the future developed or discovered, and whether as part of BMJ's products and services or as part of other content owned, controlled or represented by BMJ;
  - 2.1.2. include the Work in collections of other work and create summaries, extracts, abstracts and other derivative works based in whole or in part on the Work;
  - 2.1.3. convert the Work into any format, including audio;
  - 2.1.4. exploit all subsidiary rights that exist or may exist in the future in the Work including in relation to metadata;
  - 2.1.5. include electronic links from the Work to any third-party material; and
  - 2.1.6. licence third parties to do any or all of the above.
- 2.2. We will make every effort to consult with the Submitting Author or another Author if substantial changes are made. It is acknowledged and agreed that BMJ may in its sole discretion publish any versions of the Work submitted to BMJ and any peer reviews of the Work and responses from any Authors and third parties relating to the Work.
- 2.3. Without prejudice to the privileges and immunities including the inability to submit to any court or national jurisdiction, WHO hereby authorise BMJ to take such steps as BMJ considers necessary to prevent infringement of Intellectual Property Rights in the Work or infringement of rights granted to BMJ by WHO under this licence without recourse to WHO or the Authors .
- 2.4. It is agreed that BMJ may retract the Version of Record or publish a correction or other notice in connection with the Version of Record at any time and without further recourse to WHO or the Authors; however, when BMJ exercises its discretion to do so, it shall act reasonably.
- 2.5. As the Work has been submitted for publication as an Open Access Article, BMJ will submit the Version of Record and any expression of concern or retraction or other notices to PubMed Central ("PMC") and its mirror sites promptly after publication by BMJ.

3. Ownership of rights in the Work

- 3.1. Subject to the Licence in Clause 2.1 and any other rights granted to BMJ herein, all Intellectual Property Rights in the Work remain with the WHO and each Author shall be permitted to make such use of the Work as it set out in clause 6.
  - 3.2. Whilst the licence to BMJ is non-exclusive, the WHO agrees not to submit the Work as a whole for publication by another commercial or scholarly journal publisher, although part(s) of the Work may be published with other commercial or scholarly publishers, either on their own or as part(s) of other works.
- 4. Reversion of Rights. If BMJ does not publish the Work within 12 months of accepting it for publication, the rights granted in this Agreement shall revert to the copyright owners.

5. Warranties

- 5.1. WHO warrants that:
- 5.1.1. It is authorised to enter into this Agreement on behalf of all Authors, including without limitation, to grant all rights and adhere to all obligations;
  - 5.1.2. the Work comprises the original work of the Authors and has not been copied (in whole or in part) from any other work or material, or any other source;
  - 5.1.3. no person other than the Authors named on the Work has been involved in the creation of the Work;
  - 5.1.4. the Work has not previously been published (in whole or in part) and the WHO is the sole, unencumbered legal and beneficial owner(s) of all Intellectual Property Rights in the Work (or the WHO /Author(s) have obtained the necessary assignments or licences required for publication under this licence);
  - 5.1.5. the Work does not infringe the Intellectual Property Rights, moral rights or any other right of any third party;
  - 5.1.6. written consent has been obtained from patients if any part of the Work includes patient data (whether or not anonymised) and such written patient consent shall be provided to Us immediately if We request it;
  - 5.1.7. to the best of the Authors and the WHO's knowledge:
    - a) the Work does not contain material that is obscene blasphemous, libellous, obtained directly or indirectly in breach of confidence or is otherwise objectionable;
    - b) all statements of fact in the Work are true and correct and no advice, formula, or instruction in the Work will, if followed or implemented by any person, cause loss, damage or injury to them or any other person;
  - 5.1.8. WHO and the Authors will not make any use of the Work other than as permitted under fair dealing provisions of the Copyright Design and Patents Act 1988 or as set out in this licence, without Our prior written consent;
  - 5.1.9. the declarations of competing interests submitted by the Authors are and shall remain accurate and WHO shall procure that the Authors will notify Us in writing of any changes to such competing interests immediately; and
  - 5.1.10. all information supplied to Us shall be accurate.

6. Bribery and corruption. Without prejudice to WHO's privileges and immunities, the Parties to this Agreement shall comply with applicable laws relating to anti-bribery and corruption. To the extent not inconsistent with WHO's own established procedures to address such matters, WHO must notify Us immediately if it becomes aware of, or have grounds for suspecting, fraud or malpractice in connection with the Work. If We otherwise become aware of a fraud or malpractice concerning the Work, We will try and notify the Submitting Author as and when we are able to (and if we are legally permitted to do so), subject always to our legal requirements or any direction from any authorities, our processes (including following COPE guidance where applicable) and in compliance with our understanding of ethical obligations. For the purposes of this clause malpractice includes giving or receiving any financial or other advantage that may be construed as a bribe under the Bribery Act 2010 or any other applicable law). In the event of suspected or actual fraud or malpractice of the other party (or Author(s)) the obligations of the non-offending party may, in its absolute discretion, be suspended (upon providing written notice thereof to the other party) until the matter has been settled through consultations or the Agreement terminated because of a material breach (as the case may be).

7. Permitted uses by owners of the Work and notices to be displayed by BMJ and Authors

- 7.1. As the Work is an Open Access Article, the Work may be reused by the Authors, the WHO and any third party under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial 3.0 IGO International license (CC BY-NC 3.0 IGO <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/3.0/igo/>) or any subsequent versions of this licence as agreed between BMJ and the WHO.

- 7.2 BMJ shall display the following copyright notice and disclaimer with publication of the Version of Record:

“© World Health Organization [year]. Licensee BMJ.

This is an open access article distributed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial 3.0 IGO License (<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/3.0/igo/>), which permits use, distribution, and reproduction any medium, provided the original work is properly cited. In any reproduction of this article there should not be any suggestion that WHO or this article endorse any specific organization or products. The use of the WHO logo is not permitted. This notice should be preserved along with the article's original URL."

'The author is a staff member of the World Health Organization. The author alone is responsible for the views expressed in this publication and they do not necessarily represent the views, decisions or policies of the World Health Organization.'

7.2. The WHO and Authors agree to publish or to procure publication of the following statements on the Work each time it is reused by them in accordance with clause 7.1 above:

7.2.1. In all cases of reuse, should a retraction, expression of concern, or significant correction be applied to the Version of Record by BMJ, the permitted reused version (in accordance with Clause 7.1) must state this and link clearly to the published notice.

7.3.2 where the Version of Record is republished on an Authors website, WHO's website, or the website of any third party authorised by WHO/Authors under this licence:

"This article has been published in [insert full citation including Journal, Volume and Issue] following peer review and can also be accessed online at [insert full DOI eg. <http://dx.doi.org/10.1136/xxxxx>]."

7.3.3 where any translations of the Work are created this must include the following statement:

"This is an unofficial translation of an article that appears in a BMJ publication. Neither BMJ nor its licensors have endorsed this translation."

7.4 BMJ requires that all reuse of the Work (other than an exact republication of the Version of Record- where permitted) must remove any BMJ trade marks (and co-owner trademarks-if applicable) (whether registered or unregistered).

8. Law and jurisdiction.

8.1 Any dispute relating to the interpretation or application of this Agreement shall, unless amicably settled, be subject to conciliation. In the event of failure of the latter, the dispute shall be settled by arbitration. The arbitration shall be conducted in accordance with the modalities to be agreed upon by the parties or, in the absence of agreement, with the rules of arbitration of the International Chamber of Commerce. The parties shall accept the arbitral award as final.

8.2 Nothing contained herein shall be construed as a waiver of any of the privileges and immunities enjoyed by WHO under national or international law, and/or as submitting WHO to any national court jurisdiction.

9. General

9.1. This Agreement shall be binding on, and enure to the benefit of, the Authors and BMJ and their respective personal representatives, successors and permitted assigns, and references to any party shall include that party's personal representatives, successors and permitted assigns.

9.2. To the fullest extent permitted by law, We accept no liability to WHO or the Authors in connection with the Work.

9.3 Each of the provisions set out in this Agreement operates separately. If any court or competent authority decides that any provision is unlawful or unenforceable, the remaining conditions will remain in full force and effect.

9.4 This Agreement including all information supplied to Us, howsoever relating to the Work, constitutes the whole agreement (the legally binding contract) between WHO, the Authors and Us relating to the Work and supersedes all prior arrangements (including any previous author licences that may have entered into) or understandings whether written or oral.

10 Permissions. Permission must be sought from BMJ for all uses not expressly set out as permitted uses under this licence. Please email: bmj.permissions@bmj.com.
